Group: Social Extremism

Lab 19 group 35

A design for a lab study for your final project visualization, including:

- your hypothesis:
 - Social media use creates less happiness and more loneliness
- your independent and dependent variables
 - independent variable = startdate
 - Dependent variable = mean of participant mood
- what you will empirically measure from your participants
 - Mood with usage of social media
- how you will present the results.
 - We will present the result in the form of a line chart that charts happiness compared to loneliness
